THE TEXT:

1. On Friday night my husband David and I went to a surprise fiftieth birthday party for our friend *Therese. Her friend Janet arranged the party a few weeks ago, but Therese knew nothing about it.
2. We all met at the restaurant at a quarter to seven. There were about 50 people. We had a separate room at the back. Therese's son asked Therese to come to the restaurant at 7 o'clock. Just before seven we all stood in one corner of the room and the lights were turned off. It wasn't completely dark, but the room looked empty from the door.
3. Therese's son went to meet her and brought her to the room. He stood back politely so she could go in first. And that's when we all shouted, 'Surprise!'
4. Therese was very surprised indeed. She jumped when she heard the voices. Then we sang Happy Birthday and she understood what was happening. We all had a delicious meal followed by a slice of chocolate birthday cake.
5. For her birthday, Therese got a beautiful dress. There were lots of squares and rectangles of colour. Some of the rectangles were family photos printed onto material, so it's a very special family present.

Therese enjoyed her evening despite the shock when she first arrived.

Can shopping make people unhappy?

Hi! I'm Angela Sweaty. I'm 26 and I live with my parents in Dundee. It is the fourth largest city in Scotland. I like my city very much.

I'm very sociable and I have a lot of friends. They live in Dundee too. We often spend time together.

I work in the shoe shop and I'm very happy because I earn money myself and take part in the family housing. I am very careful with my money spending because I want to buy some useful things in future.

One day my friends asked me to help them to buy some fashionable dresses for the parties. I agreed and we went to the shop. My friends chose some beautiful dresses and we went to the fitting room. There they tried them on and Lora asked me to try one dress on. I didn't want to do it but they insisted and I did it. It fitted me perfectly. I was very elegant. They persuaded me to buy it though I had no money with me. They lent me money. I bought it but when I came home I was very unhappy because I was in a debt and had to ask my parents for help. It was a great lesson for me.

The Text

London, March 16th, 2013

Dear David,

Hello, how are you? I hope you are fine.

I am writing you today to tell you about my birthday party.

I celebrate my birthday every year and I organize a party. I usually invite my family and friends but this year, I will invite only a few schoolmates and my best friend Lilly because my house is quite small.

The guests arrive around 4 pm with plenty of presents. Lilly always buys me books because she's fond of reading. But my schoolmates always buy me toys or CDs. Personally, I prefer the CD's because I'm keen on playing videogames and listening to music.

The party starts around 4.30 pm. First we have orange juice and sandwiches. Then everybody goes into the garden. We play with my pets: Rex and Rita, two cute bulldogs. In the garden there is a big table with chairs around it. On the table there is a big cake with twelve candles on it. Everyone has a piece of cake and a glass of juice. Then I open my presents and Lilly takes pictures of us.

After that, we all dance and sing together. The boys often play football in the backyard of the house and the girls go upstairs and listen to music. But my parents go out for a while because they can't stand the noise we make.

At 7 pm, the parents start picking up their children. Only Lilly leaves quite late.

I love my birthday party. It's so much fun.

Write me soon and tell me about your birthday party.

Hugs and kisses

Paul
