The text

1. Angelina Jolie is the latest celebrity joining the effort to fight the impact of the coronavirus (COVID-19). The Hollywood star made a $1 million donation to No Kid Hungry, an organization distributing aid to help feed children who relied on school lunches for their meals.

2. "As of this week, over a billion children are out of school worldwide because of closures linked to coronavirus," said Jolie "Many children depend on the care and nutrition they receive during school hours, including nearly 22 million children in America who rely on food support. No Kid Hungry is making resolute efforts to reach as many of those children as possible."

No Kid Hungry, the charity Jolie opted to donate, said they've already distributed $2 million to 78 organizations in 30 states across the US to aid with the feeding of hungry school kids.

3. Jolie, who has long done humanitarian work, also made a separate donation to the United Nations Refugee Agency in an effort to support education for the most vulnerable kids and families affected by coronavirus internationally. She sent support to the schools she funds in Afghanistan, Cambodia, Kenya and Namibia to make sure they can still help students learn during the pandemic.

Louise Cameron, 45, a disabled from Bristol heard about TimeBank on a television programme. Louise is and had been thinking about volunteering for a while but wasn't sure how to go about it. She went online and registered. 'I do teaching and physical activities with the children, and also look after them. I enjoy the club because it makes me feel good that I am looking after and caring for the kids.' Although Louise is very busy she feels that volunteering has given her new experiences.

(2)

Anne Stevenson, 60 a retired Dental Nurse, who volunteers with Talnotry Avian Care Trust (TACT) in Crumlin. TACT takes in various wildlife creatures and is the only place that does so in Australia. They aim to return animals to the wild. "I am solely responsible for the children's animal corner which involves, feeding and caring for guinea pigs, hedgehogs, ferrets, owls and a kestrel, ... and I love it! It gives me tremendous satisfaction and keeps me young."

(3)

Mandy Stevens, 47, a single mother from Southampton and has two children aged 14 and 15. She has been volunteering on the RARS (Reconciliation and Reparation Project) She works for a tolerance and reconciliation service and arranges meetings between young offenders and victims. "I'm a kind of peacemaker. Victims are often very angry," says Mandy. "The sessions can help them. For example, people who have had their house burgled are often pleased to find out who did that." "Because I'm a volunteer, the kids are able to trust me more," reflects Mandy. Any support she can offer to these kids makes volunteering a very rewarding experience and gives value to her life.

The Text

1- The other day Robert and his friend Mike headed to the amusement park. It was Mike's birthday, and his mom promised him a day at the park with a friend. The boys were so excited. Mike talked his mom into going on the rollercoaster. That Big wheel had always been his favourite. He liked to be high up, especially, when the seat came to a stop at the top and rocked back and forth...

2- The boys were so hungry so Mike's mom gave them tickets to get cotton candy and some popcorn. While getting the food, Mike saw a boy about his age standing at the whirl. He just stood there and stared. The boy was by himself. His shirt and jeans were torn and dirty. Affected, the two boys walked over to Mike's mom to ask permission to do something to help. She nodded showing a great satisfaction.

3- Mike and Robert went over to the boy and offered him the extra tickets they had. The boy gave them the biggest smile that one could draw. He said he came to the amusement park so often, but he didn't have the money to go on the rides and he just watched everyone else and wished he could go on all of them...

4- Mike's mom waved signalling that it was getting late and they had to head home. They said goodbye to Chris and left. On the way home, Mike's mom told the boys what they did was special as they brightened a boy's day.
